

Life in a Nutshell

Framfield Church Hall - Saturday 13th May 2017: 10am - 4pm

There are big questions in life that I believe we would all like answers to if only we had the time to stop and have some meaningful discussion e.g.

Where have I come from and where am I going?

Does my life have significance?

If God exists, what is he/she like?

Does the Church have any relevance today?

Is there any difference between religion and faith?

Is there more to life than I currently experience?

My life's a mess; can I make a fresh start?

The Alpha Course or Christianity Explored are excellent church based courses if you have two to three months to spare. As a response, it has been suggested that a one-day course might be more appropriate. To this end we are running the one-day 'Life in a Nutshell' course/workshop which aims to explore the bigger questions but leave plenty of time for discussion and questions you may like answered. We aim to start promptly at 10am and finish by 4pm. Hopefully it will prove to be a valuable and thought provoking day. There is no charge for the day but you may wish to make a donation toward running costs, but please don't feel obliged.

Currently, we can comfortably hold ~ 40 persons in the church hall so registration is on a first come first served basis. To book a place please email - rev.chris@btinternet.com or via the church website www.framfieldchurch.ork.uk (or just turn up) - hope to see you on the 13th May
