Framfield Church of England Primary School Newsletter

11th September 2020

Dear Parents

It is hard to believe we have been back at school for more than a week now and it really feels good. During these challenging times, we still have so much to be glad about and in each newsletter I will try to bring you a flavour of what is happening in our wonderful school.

New Beginnings

The James Room

I am really excited to share with you, the results of carefully planned and long awaited changes to the school building. During the summer break, the front of the school was re-developed and the new space is even better than we could have imagined. The library and the admin office have swapped places and the partition wall and huge counter have been removed. This has given the children a much bigger learning space, which can accommodate a whole year group and a more spacious and inviting library. This will give teachers greater flexibility to work with groups or, on occasions, year groups. The room has a new interactive whiteboard screen too.

The library was originally dedicated to our dear friend Jimmy's wife Rosemary James, who sadly died in 2007. Jimmy helped raise funds for the library furniture and we have re-dedicated the room- which comfortably accommodates all of the shelving. In her memory, and out of gratitude for the support Jimmy gives to the school, we have named our new space the James Room. We do hope that in the near future, we are able to invite you into our new space. Our support team are also enjoying their bright new working environment.

New Staff

We are really pleased that Miss Black has joined us as the new teacher in Puffins where she has made a really good impression on the pupils and parents. We are regularly in contact with our friend Miss Barnes who has made a start in her new school but is missing us here at Framfield.

Our sports coach Kelsey has re-joined us as our regular coach, after her maternity leave, following the birth of her baby Rocky. Welcome back Kelsey.

Wishing you all a lovely weekend
