Dear Puffins,

Choose at least two tasks to complete, to a high standard. One task to be completed per term. If you have something else you would like to try then go ahead! We look forward to seeing your creations!

Design your very own Roman shield for a soldier. You may even then wish to make it!	Write a newspaper report about the Romans invading Britain. Will you be reporting to those back in Rome about your success or to the Celts as a warning?	Design and make a Roman weapon or armour. You will need to think carefully about which materials you will use.	Research and make a Roman meal. Write down your recipe in your book and stick in some pictures.
Act as somebody's slave for a day. Take pictures and keep a diary of how it made you feel to have to work for someone else.	Write a poem about the Roman invasion. You could choose acrostic, narrative or rhyming etc.	Make a Roman themed board game. Think about the things that might be bonuses or those that would set you back a few spaces.	Research, draw and label some ancient Roman artefacts. Present the information you find in a style of your choice.
Create a comic strip to show a day in Roman times. You could do this for a day as a soldier or slave. You could even do both to show the contrast!	Write a story using this start... In the distance I could see the legionaries marching towards me. My heart began to pound...	Write your own maths problems with a Roman theme. Do they need to work out how many soldiers or weapon they need? How many cities are left for them to invade?	Research Ancient Rome further and present your findings. We won't be looking into Ancient Rome very much. Could you do some extra research in this area?
